

Columbus Democrat.

VOL. 5.

COLUMBUS, MISSISSIPPI, SATURDAY, JUNE 15, 1839.

NO. 49.

THE DEMOCRAT
PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY BY
WORTHINGTON & LESTER,
Publishers of the United States Laws.

TERMS OF THE PAPER—$5 per annum in advance or $1 at the end of the year.
No Work must be paid for on delivery.

White Sulphur Springs.

MORGAN County, Alabama: (140 miles North of Tuscaloosa, 60 miles East of Florence and 15 south of Huntsville.) The main Southern Stage will pass them daily. The underlined announces to those who may inquire respecting the ensuing Summer at any of the fashionable watering places, that they have purchased the above valuable property, and have engaged the services of Mr. HIRAM CHILDS and LANE, known as the keepers of the celebrated Bell Tavern, Richmond, Va., for five years. They will be prepared by the 15th of May, to accommodate Five or Five Hundred Guests, in a style which shall not be inferior, if not superior, to any West of the Mountains. In addition to the former buildings, they are constructing a main Building, fifty-eight feet square, three stories high, and well ventilated with windows and passages, and with a colonade in front. Twenty-five or thirty new framed cottages, mostly finished; an entire new Bathing Establishment, Kitchen, Stables, &c., and a well-made Ice House. Near the Kitchen is a spacious natural cave, well fitted up for the reception of refreshments, milk and butter.

They take pleasure in stating that they have also made arrangements for a constant supply of fresh Faison and Fish; and no expense will be spared to furnish every other luxury of the season.

Their Bar will be of the first order; their Furnishings and fixtures altogether new; and their tables one of China's art.

THE WATERES consist of White and Black Sulphur, Chalybeate, Freec and Lime-stone, the quality of which are too well known to require eulogy, of this sheet is put forth merely to advertise them. The country around is high, sandy, and healthy, and abounds with Game, and the waters thus affording to the Invalid and parties pleasure, a delightful and healthy recreation.

At the object of the Proprietors is more to establish the reputation of this valuable watering place, than present pecuniary profit, their charges will be moderate than the accommodations would justly

R. J. MANNING,
P. T. MANNING,
G. F. MANNING,
Proprietors.

April 13th, 1839.—40-mst [Pr. fee $27 00]

Headache.

D. R. E. SPOHN, a German physician of much note, having devoted his attention for some time to the cure and removal of the causes of NERVOUS AND SICK HEADACHE, has the satisfaction to make known, that he has a remedy which removes the causes cures effectively and permanently this distressing complaint. These are many families who have considered Sick Headache a constitutional incurable family complaint. Dr. S. assures them that they are mistaken, and laboring under distress which they might not only alleviate, but actually eradicate by the use of his remedy.

It is the result of scientific research, and is entirely of a different character from advertised patent medicines, and is not unpleasant to the taste.

HEADACHE, SICK OR NERVOUS.

The extraordinary reputation that Dr. Spohn's remedy of this distressing complaint is, every day, giving is certainly a matter of much astonishment. That so much suffering should have existed so long without any discovery of an effectual preventive, or cure, is truly a subject of much regret, and Dr. S. now assures the public that such a remedy has been invented as will convince the most incredulous.

The principles upon which it acts are simple and plain. It is an admitted fact that this complaint, whether called Sick Headache, or Nervous Headache, arises primarily from the stomach—those who think they have the Nervous Headache may rest assured that this organ, the stomach, is the first cause, that the system has become vitiated or debilitated, through the stomach, and that through the same channel must they expect a restoration of the natural and healthy functions of the system. This object, Dr. Spohn's remedy is eminently calculated to attain. The truth of this position cannot be controverted, and the sooner sufferers with the headache become convinced of it, the sooner will their sufferings end in restoration of health. Dr. Spohn pledges his professional reputation on this fact. The remedy may be had of apothecaries generally throughout the United States.

E. SPOHN, M. D.
For Sale by E. A. SMITH, Druggist, Main Street, Columbus Mississippi.

Jan. 12, 1839.—27-6.

Moffat's Vegetable Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters.

THE high and envied celebrity which this prominent Medicine has acquired for its invincible efficacy in all the diseases which it professes to cure, has rendered the usual practice of ostentatious puffing not only unnecessary, but unworthy of them. They are known by their fruits; their good works testify for them, and they thrive not by the faith of the credulous. In all cases of convulsions, dyspepsia, bilious and liver Affections, asthma, piles, settled pains, rheuma, sm. fevers and ague, obstinate headaches, impure state of the fluids, uncleanly appearance of the skin, nervous debility, the sickness incident to females in delicate health, every kind of weakness of the digestive organs, and in all general derangements of health, these Medicines have invariably proved a certain and speedy remedy. They restore vigorous health to the most exhausted constitution. A single trial will place the Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters beyond reach of competition, in the estimation of every patient. Prepared and sold, wholesale and retail, at W. B. Moffat's office, 367 Broadway, New York.

For sale at the Drug Store of E. A. Smith in His buildings, on South side of Main street, Columbus, Miss.

Jan. 12, 1839.—27-6.

Law Notice.

RUBEN DAVIS, STEPHEN COCKE and JOHN GOODWIN, have associated themselves in the practice of Law. One or more of the firm will attend to business, confided to them in the Circuit Courts of Lowndes, Monroe, Chickasaw, Pontotoc, Tippah, Tishomingo, Itawamba and Oktibbeha; the Federal and Chancery Courts, and the High Court of Errors and Appeals at Jackson.

R. DAVIS, Office in Athens, Monroe County, Miss. J. GOODWIN'S, in Aberdeen, Monroe Co. S. COCKE'S, in Columbus, Lowndes Co. March 3, 1838—340.

Wm. B. Dameron,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
AGENT OF THE MISSISSIPPI UNION BANK,
No. 35, Commerce Street,
Jan'y 10—28th Mobile.

Ricker, Hadley, Davis, & Co.
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
Agents Mississippi Union Bank,
No. 36, Camp-Street,
NEW ORLEANS.

Dec. 23, 1838—25-6

Another great discovery which they made, is that the defalcation was occasioned by the non-employment

From the Richmond Enquirer.
THE DEFALCATIONS.
To the People of Virginia.

In my last number I made a hasty examination of the great Swartwout defalcation. I proved to you, that the late collector enjoyed in a high degree the confidence of his own community, especially of the merchants, a class, proverbial for calculating shrewdness; so that, it is not surprising, that his apparent courage, liberality and honor, imposed upon the generous and confiding Chief to whom he owed his ill-regarded appointment. I proved to you, also, that Swartwout was the especial favorite of the Whigs, who spoke of him as their candidate for Congress, and even for the Vice Presidency. He may almost be considered as the founder of the Conservative party. I do not know whether any copies of the flaming resolutions of the great Conservative meeting at New York, which were so extensively circulated, ever reached you; but it is well to know, that this famous gathering was presided over by Swartwout. It is a curious coincidence, that after he became a defaulter, he turned Whig, or rather Conservative, which is something worse, of course I allude to the factious Conservatives, being a compound of Whiggery and treachery. I explained to you, also, as fully as the nature of my article permitted how he perpetrated his immense peculations, and by what contrivances and facilities he was enabled to conceal them, until after his virtual dismissal by Mr. Van Buren. How often does it happen, that one man by his single efforts, is empowered to abuse a trust confided to him, with long impunity? You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in Pennsylvania had succeeded in appropriating to himself nearly a hundred thousand dollars of the corporate funds, in spite of a vigilant directory, whose sole business it was to manage the pecuniary affairs of the society. But Swartwout had unusual facilities and extraordinary advantages to assist him in the perpetration and concealment of his frauds. He was aided by defective laws; corrupt subordinates appointed by himself; the confusion and delays incident to the great fire and the general suspension, which appeared successively to the indifference of the Government and of Congress; together with a district attorney, who should have been his legal check and the vigilant guardian of the public interests, but who was probably leagued with him in the perpetration, participation and concealment of his infamous peculations. With such facilities, it was not difficult to be a successful rogue. You doubtless recollect such instances among yourselves, and in view of previously unsullied reputation. It is but the other day, I observed, that the President of a Railroad Company in